

For Immediate Release

Media Contact:

Robert Yanity
(803) 217-9501
ryanity@scana.com

Investor Contact:

Bryan Hatchell
(803) 217-7458
bhatchell@scana.com

SCANA Elects Two for Board of Directors

Columbia, SC, January 2, 2008...SCANA Corporation (NYSE: SCG) announced the election of two new members to its Board of Directors today – James M. Micali, Chairman and President of Michelin North America; and James W. Roquemore, CEO and Chairman of Patten Seed Company.

SCANA's Board of Directors voted on December 31, 2007 to increase the size of the SCANA Corporation Board from ten to twelve members. The Board elected Micali and Roquemore to serve in the newly created seats until the next annual meeting of shareholders at which time the Board plans to propose each for election by the shareholders.

James M. Micali

Micali was appointed chairman and president of Michelin North America in 1996. He received his legal degree from Boston College Law School in 1973. After practicing law with Higgins, Cavanagh & Cooney in Providence, R.I., Micali joined Michelin in 1977 and held a number of positions in the legal department, including two assignments in France, through 1984. He was named general counsel and secretary for Michelin North America in 1985, and became executive vice president of the North American legal and finance functions in 1990.

Micali was named a member of the Michelin Group Executive Council in 2001. He served the rubber industry as chairman of the board of the Rubber Manufacturers Association for a one-year term concluding in 2002. He was elected to the board of directors of Sonoco in 2003 and served on the board of directors of Lafarge North America from 2004 to 2006. In 2004, the Richard W. Riley Institute of Government, Politics and Public Leadership at Furman University named Micali a distinguished senior fellow in political economy and leadership management. He is immediate past chairman of the S.C. Manufacturers Alliance and currently chairs the S.C. Chamber of Commerce.

Micali is a guest lecturer at Furman University and previously served on the board of directors for St. Francis Hospital in Greenville, S.C. He has also received the Order of Merit from the French government.

James W. Roquemore

Roquemore is CEO and Chairman of the Board of Patten Seed Company, the nation's top producer of warm-season turfgrass sod and seed. Under the direction of Roquemore and his late father, W. A. Roquemore, before him, Patten Seed has grown from a small business in Lakeland, Georgia to having farms located throughout Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

With more than 19,000 acres under cultivation, including an extensive pecan operation for wholesale nut production and nursery tree stock, Patten Seed Company is today one of the largest and most diversified agricultural businesses in the South, and one of the largest turfgrass producers in the world. In addition to its farm offices, Patten Seed Company has 15 sod sales offices strategically located in the southeast.

Roquemore serves on the Southeast Region and National Boards of the Boy Scouts of America. He also serves on the Board of SC Bank and Trust. He is currently the Agribusiness Co-Chairman for "New Carolina" – South Carolina's Council on Competitiveness – and is the Past President and Current Board Member of the Palmetto Agribusiness Council.

Roquemore has received many awards and honors throughout his career, including the Governor's Order of the Palmetto, Orangeburg Citizen of the Year, the Silver Beaver Award for the Boy Scouts of America and a SC Ambassador for Economic Development, 2001.

SCANA Corporation, a Fortune 500 company headquartered in Columbia, SC, is an energy-based holding company principally engaged, through subsidiaries, in electric and natural gas utility operations and other energy-related businesses. The Company serves approximately 636,000 electric customers in South Carolina and more than 1.2 million natural gas customers in South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia. Information about SCANA and its businesses is available on the Company's website at www.scana.com .

###